American Destroyers With Marines On Way to Gulf Waters.

REBELS CAPTURE TAMPICO

News of Fall of Oil Center Is Contained in Radio to Interests at Houston, Texas; Political Prisoners Slain by Carranza Men, Report.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—With Mexico City, Vera Cruz and Tampico in the hands of the revolutionists American destroyers were enroute today to Mexican waters to await eventualities and to afford protection to American lives in the Mexican gulf ports.

The rapidly changing situation in the southern republic had developed even another important question and that concerned President Carranza. The American embassy report made no mention of the president and reports from Vera Cruz said that the search in that city had failed to find him. One report was that he had been arrested in Esperanza but this was without confirmation here, either in official dispatches or through advice to revolutionist agents.

HOUSTON, Texas, May 10.—Tampico, important town on the Gulf of Mexico, capitulated to forces of General Obregon yesterday, according to radio advice received by oil interests here today. The advice said the town went over to the revolutionists without serious disorder.

The message received here was filed with United States gunboat Sacramento at Tampico by an official of the Mexican Gulf Oil company and was addressed to the Gulf Refining company at Houston.

The advice stated that revolutionist troops entered the customs house Sunday at 4:30 o'clock. The military commander escaped on the government steamer Jalisco with files and records, it was said.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Estimates at the State Department today placed the number of Americans in Mexico at between 5,000 and 6,000. This includes radicals and druggists who crossed the border to escape arrest or court proceedings.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The dreadnought Oklahoma was ordered today to proceed from New York to Key West, Fla., for possible duty in Mexican waters. The ship will stop en route at Philadelphia to take on a full company of marines from the League Island station. She is expected to arrive there tonight.

VERA CRUZ, May 9.—President Carranza, who fled from Mexico City at the approach of General Obregon's army, is a fugitive in the eastern part of the state of Tlaxcala and is believed to be trying to reach his city. The railroad train in which the president left the capital was stopped at the city of Tlaxcala by detachments of General Obregon's army and the president was forced to leave his car and flee on horseback. General Sanchez, an adherent of Obregon, is attempting to intercept the president in the mountains.

Instructions that the life of Carranza be spared have been issued by Obregon, who has given guarantees to the residents of cities under control of his forces.

The gunboat Progress arrived here from Tampico and reported there was nothing new in the situation there. Insurgent chiefs in the state of Vera Cruz have placed themselves under the command of General Sanchez.

EL PASO, Tex., May 10.—General Obregon's forces are in complete possession of Mexico City, according to an official announcement made in Juarez late today by the revolutionists.

A bulletin issued at revolutionary headquarters here today said members of the diplomatic corps representing various foreign nations met at Mexico City and requested President Carranza not to combat revolutionary forces marching on the capital. The bulletin gave Mexico City newspapers of May 4 as authority for the statement.

There were no details of the occupation. The report that President Carranza had been arrested at Esperanza, State of Vera Cruz, while fleeing from the capital city to Vera Cruz, remained unconfirmed. The report said his capture had been effected by General Guadalupe Sanchez.

General Francisco Arguilla, Carranza military commander at Mexico City, before leaving the capital which now is in complete possession of revolutionary forces, carried out a wholesale slaughter of political prisoners at Santiago, the military prison, according to a bulletin issued at revolutionary headquarters here today.

Fifteen Mexican generals were among those reported slaughtered. "The city was shocked by the bloody episode for the Carranza regime," the bulletin said.

LEADERS ARE RELIEVED

By Associated Press. JUAREZ, May 10.—Francisco Villa's days of banditry and constant menace to all attempts to establish stable government in Mexico and to the relations between this republic and the United States are ended, according to reports reaching here. Leaders of the new revolution displayed visible relief at the announcement that Villa had laid down his arms and turned his men over to General Enriquez, revolutionary commander of the Chihuahua district.

Since the revolution swept out of Sonora with increasing momentum what Villa would do or what would be done with him had been a topic of speculation. It was reported that with the best interests of his country at heart, he would be permitted to remain neutral and settle down on a plantation, and still later that his proffered service to the revolution had been declined.

Agents of the new regime admitted that if Villa decided to oppose it he would constitute the greatest menace, despite the fact that all reports credited him with leading a band of little more than a personal guard.

By Associated Press. PITTSBURGH, May 10.—Fifteen hundred shopmen of the McKees Rocks shops of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad failed to report for work today, having voted in secret meeting last night, it was stated, to join the striking yard crews.

Efforts were to be made during the day, leaders announced, to bring out the shopmen at other points along the road.

Extension of the strike on the Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad became known today when the company placed an embargo on north and south shipments. This, it was stated, would hamper operation at Connellsville, Ohio, the great iron ore port on Lake Erie, and if the strike continued would affect the mills of the United States Steel corporation in the Pittsburgh district as the Bessemer & Lake Erie, which is a steel corporation line, handles vast quantities of ore for these plants. Also it was added the shipment of coal from the Pittsburgh district to the Northwest would be curtailed seriously.

Pennsylvania railroad officials reported continued improvement in the situation in the central region.

MERCER, May 10.—As a result of the walkout of switchmen on the Bessemer railroad the Mercer County Heat, Light & Power company was today compelled to suspend service to all of the industries of the city.

GAS WELLS BOOST TO CHRISTIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL BUILDING FUND

The combined Sunday school building and New World fund of the First Christian church was reported Sunday night as having reached $32,949.58, as compared with $55,000. It is expected the fund will be closed during the week. Some members have not yet been seen.

The building fund will be the gainer by the drilling in of two wells of the United McKeesport Oil & Gas company at McKeesport last week. It came about this way: When the company was being formed by J. Melvin Grey and others, Mrs. Grey, who is a more active member of the church, insisted that she be allotted the first share of stock. In making out her check for this she wrote across the face, "Sunday School Building Fund," although the present movement to raise a fund had not been launched at that time.

Mrs. Grey decided to divide the proceeds of the share between the Sunday school and the Jessie M. Grey Mission circle, named for Mrs. Grey. She stipulated that Nos. 2 and 3 of the four-well proposition should be credited to the building fund and the others to the circle. It happened that No. 4 was the first to come in and that No. 2 came in the next day, both at 10,000,000 cubic feet. The proceeds of both will go to the Sunday school fund unless it should happen that the others prove to be gas or oil or poor wells, in which event Mrs. Grey will arrange a division with the circle.

The testimony of other officers in possession of first hand knowledge Secretary Daniels testified, "should be accepted by all open minded men as an absolute refutation of practically all of Admiral Sims' charges."

Sims, Secretary Daniels told the committee, did not measure up to expectations in various ways, of which he mentioned six.

HOW TO RAISE BABY CHICKS

Put Avicol in the drinking water.

Most people lose half of every hatch, and seem to expect it. Chick cholera, or white diarrhoea, is the trouble. The U. S. Government states that over half the chicks hatched die from this cause.

An Avicol tablet, placed in the drinking water, will positively save your little chicks from all such diseases. Inside of 48 hours the sick ones will be as lively as crickets. Avicol keeps them healthy and makes them grow and develop.

Mrs. Vannie Theobald, R. F. D. 2, St. Paris, O., writes: "I had 30 chicks and they all died but 32. Then I commenced on Avicol and haven't lost any since. They have grown wonderfully."

It costs nothing to try Avicol. If you don't find that it prevents and promptly cures white diarrhoea, chick cholera, and all bowel diseases of you try, tell us and your money will be refunded by return mail. Avicol is sold by most druggists and poultry remedy dealers, or you can send 25c or 50c today for a package by mail postpaid. Burrell-Pugger Co., 320 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

Pittsburgh's Greatest Store

ANNIVERSARY SALE

KAUFMANN & BAER CO.

No Greater Thrust Has Been Struck at High Prices Than This

ANNIVERSARY SALE

of The Kaufmann & Baer Store

WHILE others stand by and talk idly of high prices---and higher prices to come---Kaufmann & Baer Co. have set about in a business-like and practical way to bring prices down. Frankly, with the wholesale market in its present condition even our close relations with hundreds of manufacturers were not sufficient to furnish all the extraordinary values which have made this Anniversary Sale the sensation it is.

We went into our own stocks. We forgot our own profits. We reduced radically our own already low prices. And we are selling merchandise in this Anniversary Sale in many instances without profit

On the opening day of the sale, for example, a pile of several hundred Royal Wilton rugs melted away like snow under a hot sun. Where could anyone find in this town Royal Wilton rugs whose standard prices are $82.50 to $125 for $60!

Take too, for another example, the offering of ONYX silk stockings for women---with pointex heels---for $1.85. They are the same qualities sold regularly for $3.25 to $4.50 pair. We know of one woman who came late in the day and found that all the black stockings were sold. But she was not disappointed. She bought a half-dozen pairs of the lighter shades. They were not just what she wanted, but she is going to dye them black herself. She said the values were so remarkable that it was well worth her while to do so.

Hundreds of women bought from two to six pairs of pumps and oxfords at $4.45 and $6.85 pair. Never were they more amazed at the wonderful values. Little wonder when we cannot replace these shoes at whole-sale today for these prices!

Men, too, come in for their share of the startling Anniversary Sale savings. Never in the history of the K. & B. Men's Store have we offered a better proposition than the suits at $32.50 --- all of them good values today at their regular prices of $45 to $65.

These are not isolated cases, but typical value-giving offerings through the entire K. & B. SIXTH ANNIVERSARY SALE.

Every Day New Items will be ready to greet our friends and customers---Look for the Anniversary Signs---Wherever you see one you will find a saving.

It will more than pay people to come from miles and miles around Pittsburgh and share in the savings.

Small Island in Mid-Pacific Not Worried by High Prices.

Guam, a small island in mid-Pacific, has no peace treaties or politics, no candidates or elections, no income taxes or poorhouses and high prices cause no worry. Added to this is a good American government.

Land is fertile and the sun works overtime for Guam. The 15,000 natives exact a living from the soil with a minimum of effort, raising enough only for their own needs. The internal government has a fish, meat and vegetable market where produce grown on the government farm is sold.

The government passed a labor law, compelling every able-bodied man to cultivate a bit of land when war and a destructive typhoon came. The natives didn't object, but worked in groups so they could talk. In a year there were just five cases for charity.

OLD-TIMERS WILL GATHER ON TROTTER DIAMOND WEDNESDAY; SONS WILL BE SEEN IN ACTION

Occasion Will Be a Clash With the Champion Hostetter Team.

SOME REMINISCENCES, TOO

What promises to be one of the best games arranged by the Trotter team will be played next Wednesday at Trotter when it meets the Hostetter team, the champion of the northern coke region last year. The Hostettters defeated Leisnering No. 1 during last season but would not give Trotter a game.

When the boys from the north gather on the field Wednesday they will have in their lineup several players named Goodman. The name Goodman from that district will mean much to the old time players of 20 or 30 years ago, especially with the present management of the Trotter team.

A score of years ago in the Northern coke region were two teams in which much rivalry existed. They were the Calumets and the Mammoth. Among the players on the Calumet team were Chauncey Burkey, Rod Roth, Buff Rhinehart, Anthony Bell, Dan Davis, Alack Gray, John Rose, Scott Johns and Harry Showers, while the Mammoth team had John Struble, Charles Franks, Bob Goodman, Davy Goodman, Frank Fry, Jim Pike, Tom Conroy, Bill Hous and Ah Collins.

Today, after time has slipped over a score of years, we find these old time players, or most of them still interested in the old pastime and in our midst as managers or boosters for better baseball. Rivals on these old time teams we have John Struble and Chauncey Burkey, working side by side as the manager and assistant manager of the Trotter team. Burkey was a pitcher and a good one, while Struble played the outfield. Burkey was a fox in the box. The opposing player was sure to have a strike registered against him before he knew it. Burkey had a very fast ball and as soon as the batter would amble to the plate but before he could set himself, Burkey would have a strike on him. But Struble had it on Burkey. John was wise to C. L. In a game Struble picked up his bat and slowly took his time reaching the plate. Burkey was all set to slip the strike through. Struble never gave Burkey a glance. Timing himself and Burkey's throw to a second John stepped into the batter's box and caught the ball clean on the nose for a home run. The bases being full Struble's defeat into a victory for the Mammoth.

Charles Franks, another old-time tosser for the Mammoth, is the boss of the Leisnering No. 1 team. This year Charles has greatly improved the playing field at his place. Billy Hous is interested in the game at Hecla. Fry is a fire boss for the Fricks. Bell is mine foreman at Leish. Roth is located at Mount Pleasant, while Davis is an electrician at Brownsville.

The Goodmans, who will be in the lineup against Trotter on the Hostetter team, are the sons of the old-time players that Struble, Burkey, Franks and the others played with and against 20 years ago. These old-

BASEBALL CHURPS

It will not be definitely decided until this evening if the Baltimore and Ohio Shop team will be able to go through with the game with Trotter tomorrow afternoon. From present indications the game will be played.

The Capstan Glass team is now ready to book games with any local teams. The South Siders are practicing every day and will be able to give a good account of themselves when they play their opener. Any teams that want to mingle with the Capstans should write L. J. Moorman, Capstan Glass Works, South Conneltsville.

The Latrobe Post of the American Legion will have a baseball team on the field this season, to play games both at home and abroad, and as the Post's membership includes quite a number of good players a fine team is looked for.

Newt Wilson will umpire all Trotter games. The reason Newt did not umpire the game between the Baltimore and Ohio Shop and Trotter last Thursday was that he missed the car. He arrived in time to catch the car, but he was so interested in The Courier's sport page that the car pulled out while he was reading the latest sport news.

The West Side Juniors defeated the South Siders in a game Saturday on the South Side by the score of 20-19. The Batteries were: West Side, Hibner, Swope and Taylor; South Side, Driscoll, McDermott, Tomaska and Wilhelm. The pitching of Hibner and P. Driscoll was rather wild.

When C. L. Burkey was pitching ball in his younger days he used to warm up by throwing an iron ball the size of a baseball. When asked who was the catcher of his "bullet," Burkey said no one. He used to throw them at the backstop or the side of a barn.

Today will be the last day that the Conneltsville Independents' uniform and playing equipment will be on display at the Crowley-Meateast store window, as the boys will now get down to team practice. All the players have been getting good workouts and are in good condition.

The Star Junction team is after a game with Trotter. Star Junction always had a strong team and a game between these two teams would be worth watching.

The Fairview Independents won their first game Saturday from North End, 14-12.

BOXING

One of the biggest surprises in boxing was the dethroning of Mike O'Dowd from the middleweight championship at Boston Thursday night by a practically unknown fighter, Johnny Wilson of Charlestown, Mass. Wilson won the championship in a clear-cut manner. There was no fluke to his victory. He beat O'Dowd nine out of the 12 rounds. The victory of Wilson's was a repetition of the George Chip-Al McCoy fight, when Chip lost his crown to the "cheese" champion. Like McCoy, Wilson is a southerner. By both men weighing in at the middleweight limit, 160 pounds or under, and the fight being announced for the championship, Wilson is the recognized champion of the world.

Jack Dempsey's opponent for Benton Harbor, Mich., on July 5 will be Fred Fulton, the lanky plasterer. This scrapper was the only one who accepted the offer to battle it out with the title holder. Fulton was defeated by Jack some time ago. Fulton after that bout said that Dempsey double-crossed him. He did with a right to the jaw.

Tonight at the armory is drill night. It's a pleasure now for the Company D boys to attend these drills. The big thing they seem to enjoy is the boxing lessons that Billy Carter, the local boxer, imparts to them every Monday night.

Eddie Wimler and Patsy Brannigan boxed 10 rounds in Pittsburgh Saturday night and the old timer, Brannigan defeated Eddie. Both boys are prime favorites here. Wimler is expected back in town today for another visit.

The American, Jeff Smith, of Bayonne, N. J., won the middle-weight championship of France, Saturday night. Smith defeated Ercule de Balzac, in three rounds in Paris for the title.

The losing of his championship does not affect Mike O'Dowd. Tomorrow night at Camden, N. J., he boxes Jack Callen of Allentown in an eight-round bout. It is almost a certainty that Mike's bout with Harry Greb will take place next week in Pittsburgh as scheduled.

Wednesday night at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, Harry Greb will meet a man who has a decision over him, Tom Gibbons of St. Paul, brother of the famous Mike, will try to make it two in a row over the Smoky City boxer.

Since Billy Carter, the local champion, started his instructions of boxing at the armory every young man in the city is getting interested in the game, it appears. One or two want to get fights at the shows where Carter will shortly appear, but they are under the impression that they are worth big money to the promoters. One near champion, who never engaged in a bout, wanted the promoter to give him $40 and all expenses for a few rounds. They do not consider the fact that they are useless as a drawing card and could not get two dollars for the promoter at the gate.

BOWLING.
The total duck pin bowling contest between the Wilson and Irwin team and the Ballor-Coland team is attracting quite a little interest. Should the Wilson-Irwin team be successful in this contest, Uniontown wants to send over a pair of bowlers to roll the local team. The Wilson-Irwin and Ballor-Coland contest is of 10 games. Wednesday they roll the first five games on the Manhattan alleys and on Thursday the final five games on the West Penn alleys.

The Strange Case of Cavendish

By

(Copyright by Randall Parrish)

He Heard the Marshal Splashing Along Behind.

ing to his right to keep his feet; he heard the marshal splashing along behind, convulsed by his ceaseless profanity that he also made progress in spite of his shortness of limbs. Indeed, they attained the rock shelter almost together, creeping up through a narrow crevasse, leaving a wet trail along the grey stone. This was accomplished none too soon, a yell from the bank telling of their discovery, followed by the crash of a gun. The marshal, who was still exposed, hastily crept under cover, wiping a drop of blood from his cheek, where a splinter of rock dislodged by the bullet had slashed the flesh. He was, nevertheless, in excellent humor, his keen grey eyes laughing as he peered out over the rock rampart.

"If they keep up shootin' like that, Jim, I reckon our insurance won't be high," he said. "I'm plumb ashamed of the camp, the way them boys waste lead. Hand over them cartridges; let's see what sorter stock we got."

CHAPTER X.

The Rock in the Stream. Westcott was sensible now of a feeling of intense exhaustion. The fierce fighting in the room behind the saloon, the excitement of the attempt to escape, the chase, ending with the plunge through the stream had left him pitifully weak. The marshal noticed it, and cast a swift glance into the other's face.

"About all in, Jim?" he inquired under-bantering. "Little out of your line, I reckon. Take a bit of rest, then, you'll be all right. It's safe enough for the present, when we are, for as that bunch of chicken thieves is concerned, I reckon we're in for a sleep. Dan."

Westcott extended his hand. "It's mighty white of you, Dan, to stay by me," he said gravely. "It's liable to cost you your job."

"Terrible with the job. I kin earn more in the mines any day. I'm not doin' any more for you than I would for any other galoot in bad. I wouldn't let 'em lynch a horse thief without givin' 'em a fight first. Don't be givin' any sympathy to me."

"But we haven't any chance."

"Well, I don't know about that now," and the marshal looked up and down the stream thoughtfully. "It might be worse. Look a here, Jim. This yer fuss ain't your fault, an' yer never shot the men, either."

"No, I didn't, Dan. I never fired a shot."

"I know it, that's why all I want to do is to let you go. I saw you at the rock, an' I reckon I ain't so dumb that I can't catch onto the game what Lacy is tryin' to play."

"You saw what happened?"

"Sure, it didn't look good to me, but I didn't see the place, an' I wasn't there when I saw the men there. I was in the saloon, I saw them down the river, an' I took a peek in through that rear window. Through that peephole I got sight of you, Lacy, an' that's what's his name."

"That's it, well, I could make out the three of yer, but I never got sight of the other buck—his name was Beaton, wasn't it?—he came out from behind the curtain and gripped yer. It was a set-up job all right, an' maybe I ought to have hustled round to the door an' took a hand. But I don't aim to mix up in no scurrilous game as this. Sides, he was a fair shot, I reckon. There was three ag'in one, but I reckon yer kicked the wind out of the jumper, the odds wasn't so bad, an' I reckon I ought to be feelin' good. But I ain't put up some dandy fight."

Jim. You had them two guys licked to a frazzle, when that Enright came back to life again, an' crawled out on the floor an' picked up your gun. The first thing I know he had it, an' the next thing I know he'd pulled the trigger. He meant it for you, but Beaton got it."

"It was Enright, then, who fired the shot?"

"Sure, it was Enright; I saw him, but that didn't cut any ice after I got loaded. Do you see? The whole crowd was Lacy's gang; they'd do whatever he said. It was your gun that had the discharged cartridge; Bill was yellin' that you fired it, and Enright, of course, would have backed him up to save his own neck. What was the row about—your mind?"

"Partly, but mostly another affair. The best thing I can do is to tell you about it. What's going on up there?"

"He pointed up the stream, and Beaton shaded his eyes to look, although careful to keep well under cover, confident that any movement would be observed from the shore. He gazed for some time before he seemed entirely satisfied.

"A bunch of the boys 'crossin' the old fork," he said quietly. "Goin' to picket the other bank, I reckon. There's likely to be some more comin' down the opposite way from the bridge. That's Lacy's idea—to starve us out."

"They seem quiet enough."

"There won't be any more fightin' unless we try to get away, I reckon. They know we are armed and can shoot. You better keep down, though, Jim, for they're sure a watchin' us all right, an' all Lacy cares about is to put you out of the way. He'd just as soon do it with a bullet as a rope. Go on with your story."

Westcott told it simply, but in full detail. The marshal listened quietly to the narrative, the quick action of his jaws alone evidencing his interest, although he occasionally interposed a question. Except for Westcott's voice there was no sound, beyond the lapping of water against the rock, and no figures of men became visible along either bank. The party shore had crossed the stream, and disappeared up a ravine, and nothing remained to indicate that these two were fugitives, hiding for their lives, and facing a desperate expedition in an effort to escape their pursuers. As the speaker finally concluded the silence was almost oppressive.

"How do yer suppose Bill Lacy got into the affair?" asked Brennan, at last thoughtfully. "I don't put no sorter deviltry beyond him, yer understand, but I don't quite see how he ever come to get mixed up in this here New York mess."

"I'm just as much in the dark as you are, as to that," admitted Westcott doubtfully. "I am convinced, however, that Cavendish is still alive, and that another body 'strangely resembling his was found in the New York apartments. According to Enright this was not part of their scheme, but merely an accident of which they took advantage. How true this is will never be known unless we discover Cavendish, and learn his story. Now, if he is alive, where has he been concealed, and for what purpose? Another thing begins to loom up. The more hideous of the man was all right so long as the conspirators were not suspected. But now when they are aware that they are being followed, what is likely to happen? Will they become desperate enough to kill their victim, hoping thus to destroy absolutely the evidence of their crime? Will their vengeance also include Miss Donovan?"

"Not unless they can get you out of the way first," decided the marshal grimly. "That is Lacy's most important job—your more dangerous to them now than the girl. That meeting today was prearranged, and Beaton was expected to land you. That was why he hid behind the curtain, but something caused him to make a false move; they never expected you to put up that sort of fight, Jim, for nobody knew yer in this camp for a fightin' man. But what's yer theory 'bout Cavendish? Let's leave the dead man in New York, go, an' get down to cases."

"I figure it out like this, Dan. I believe Fred got my telegram, and decided to come out here at once without telling anybody what his plans were. All he did was to make a will so as to dispose of his property in case anything happened. His employin' Enright for that job unfortunately put the whole thing in the hands of this crowd. They were ready to act, and they acted. Beaton must have taken the same train, and the two men got friendly; probably they never knew each other in New York, but, being from the same place, it was easy enough to strike up an acquaintance. What occurred on board is all guesswork, but a sudden blow at night, on an observation platform, at some desert station, is not impossible; or it might be sickness, and the two men left behind to seek a physician. Here was where Lacy must have come in. He goes east occasionally, doesn't he?"

"Sure; come to think of it he was in New York 'bout three months ago on some cattle deal, an' I heard he had an agent there sellin' wildcat minin' stock. There ain't no doubt in my mind but he knew some of these fellows. They wouldn't 'a' plumped this unless they had some cache fired out yere in this country—that's plain as a wart on the nose. But what is it? I'll bet yer that if we ever find Cavendish, we'll find the girl along with him; an' what's more, that spot ain't liable to be more'n fifty miles from Haskell."

"What makes you think that?"

"Saddle? Oh, the red-headed waitress at Timmons', yer mean? Big Tim's girl?"

"Yes; she was the one who saw Miss Donovan forced into the wagon, and driven off."

"And they took the old Shoshone trail; out past Hennessey's ranch?"

"So she described it. Does that mean anything?"

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

"EYES OF YOUTH"—Clara Kimball Young's first Equity Pictures Corporation release, is being shown today and will continue to be the attraction for tomorrow and Wednesday. The picture is numbered among Miss Young's big successes. The Max Mara and Charles Guernon stage play, after its long run behind the footlights, has been adapted to the screen by Albert Parker, and its novelty and variety of incident of its plot lead to the making of an absorbing photodrama. There are quite a number of strong scenes, providing a splendid opportunity for Miss Young to display her wonderful ability as an actress. She is supported by exceptionally able support, including Milton Sills, the favorite screen player.

A selected comedy is also being shown.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE WHITE DOVE," a Robertson-Cole special, in which H. B. Warner is seen in the leading role, is being shown today. Appearing in Mr. Warner's supporting cast is Virginia Lee Corbin, one of the most beautiful and talented children of the motion picture world.

The opening of the picture relates how Dr. Sylvester Lanyon has been for years kept in ignorance of a secret which his dead wife once confessed to his father, the serious fact of her love affair with another man since her marriage.

The dramatic death of an old friend of the doctor is the means of breaking the news to the husband. He is a rather puritanical man, perfect in his own morals and firm in the belief that no good woman would ever be tempted and yield. Convinced that his wife had been guilty of this grievous sin, he leaves home and goes to London to try to forget.

He has said nothing to his father, and his distrust extends to his beautiful little daughter; and to Ella Deveries, the woman he had been learning to love. He thinks the child may not be his own, and he now distrusts all

POTATO DISHES.

Beginning with soup and ending with dessert, one may have potatoes in every course in the meal. One would hardly care for such a meal, but it is interesting to note how valuable the potato is as a food.

Potato Cream Soup.—Take a cupful of boiled mashed potatoes; scald one quart of milk, and two slices of onion in a double boiler. Put the potatoes through a sieve, and add the milk, reserving the onion; put into a double boiler to heat. Melt three tablespoons of butter, add two tablespoons of flour, mix and pour some of the hot mixture over the thickening, and cook until smooth. Add to the soup with a little chopped parsley.

Hashed Potatoes.—Chop and boiled or baked potatoes into small bits. Season with salt and pepper and chopped parsley. For one quart of chopped potatoes, add three tablespoons of butter. Beat the butter and turn in the potatoes; stir until they begin to brown, then add one-fourth cupful of thin cream, and set back to brown on the back of the stove. Fold like an omelet, and serve with the brown crust on top. Garnish with parsley. Do not put potatoes through a meat chopper for this dish, as the bits should not be at all mushy. A good hash should always be chopped in the chopping bowl. Meat loaf is much better done so, rather than ground in the meat grinder.

Potato Cake.—Cream together one cupful of sugar and half a cupful of butter substitute; add the yolk of an egg and beat again; add one cupful of hot mashed potato, half a cupful of sweet milk or cold water alternately with two cupfuls of flour sifted with two teaspoonsful of baking powder. Mix two squares of grated chocolate in the hot potato before adding it to the mixture. Add one-third of a teaspoonful each of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg and one-third of a cupful of chopped walnuts. Fold in the beaten whites of the egg. Bake in a loaf or in layers. This cake will keep moist for weeks.

After Whooping Cough—What?

This is No. 4 of a series of advertisements, prepared by a competent physician, explaining how certain diseases which attack the air passages—such as Pneumonia, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Measles or even a long continued Cold—often leave these organs in an inflamed, congested state, thus affording a favorable foothold for invading germs. And how Vicks' VapoRub may be of value in this condition.

Whooping cough is the "meanest" disease that childhood is heir to. While rarely fatal in itself, except to children under two years of age, still it hangs on so long—the coughing paroxysms are so violent, preventing proper sleep and digestion—that when the disease does disappear it leaves the child weakened and run down. In addition the violent coughing racks and strains the air passages and after recovery this irritation frequently remains.

During this period of convalescence the child should be most carefully watched until full strength is restored and the air passages regain their normal tone. A prominent authority even goes so far as to say—"There is more criminal neglect in connection with whooping cough than with any other disease."

While the disease is active, Vicks' VapoRub usually helps to lessen the violence of the coughing, but it is during convalescence that Vicks is most valuable.

Because Vicks acts locally by stimulation thru the skin to draw out the inflammation, attract the blood away from the congested spots and relieve the cough. In addition the medicinal ingredients of Vicks are vaporized by the body heat. These vapors are breathed in all night long, thus bringing the medication to bear directly upon the inflamed areas.

Vicks should be rubbed in over the throat and chest until the skin is red—then spread on thickly and covered with hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck and the bed clothes arranged in the form of a funnel so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled. If the cough is annoying swallow a small bit of a pea.

Children's digestions are delicate—easily disturbed by too much "dosing." Vicks, therefore, is particularly recommended, since it is externally applied and so can be used often and freely without the slightest harmful effects.

Samples to new users will be sent free on request to the Vicks Chemical Company, 234 Broad Street, Greensboro, N. C.
